Asian American Institute for Research and Engagement

AAIRE'S 2026 SUMMER INTERNS

Noorah Elbarky

Safiya Bhuiyan

Noorah Elbarky is an incoming sophomore at Rutgers Business School, double-majoring in Marketing and Supply Chain. She has been a part of multiple marketing teams at her university, including Jumu'ah and the North African Student Association, where she serves as the Community Outreach Chair. She is currently the Content Development Coordinator at AAIRE. This summer, she is excited to make an impact with the AAIRE marketing team!

Safiya Bhuiyan is a first-year student at Princeton University with a strong interest in medicine and biomedical research. She has strong aspirations for understanding health inequities and plans on studying neuroscience and global health. This summer, she is excited to work with AAIRE by making an impactful difference for her community.